SENATE-EXTRA SESSION.

Thursday, March 7, 1861.

Mr. Nesmith offered a resolution instructing the Secretary of War to communicate to the Senate such correspondence as is on the files of his Department relative to the transportation of troops over the overland route to the Pacific coast; agreed to.

Mr. Wade presented to the Senate the resignation of Salmon P. Chase, United States Senator from Ohio.

The Senate then took up the resolution offered by Mr. Dixon yesterday, ordering to be printed for the use of the Senate the usual number of copies of the inaugural address. Mr. Wigfall said that the force and public property now held by the seceding States could not be held much longer. The position taken by the President would not allow this, and the struggle was drawing very near.

He argued that the Federal Government was not binding upon States, and justified the course of the Gulf States. The Government was dead; and the only question that remains was, shall it be civilly buried in Protestant style, or with an Irish wake for a funeral?

He did not believe they could find a man who would dare to go into the ports of the seceding States as a collector of revenue. Mr. Lincoln had either to remove Major Anderson immediately, or else he must reinforce him. If he did not remove him, the Confederate States would.

The diplomatic corps yesterday afternoon paid their usual ceremonial visit to the President, as is usual on the incoming of a new Administration. They, through the Portuguese Minister, expressed the hope that his conduct of affairs would be successful, and that the friendly relations between their own and this Government would continue. The President warmly reciprocated the kindly wishes expressed.

LEAVE TAKING.—About three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the clerks in the Treasury Department assembled in one of the large rooms in the south wing of the building, and were addressed by General John A. Dix, the late Secretary, in a few patriotic and feeling remarks. At the conclusion, the clerks were individually introduced by the chief clerk, Mr. Rodman, and each bid Mr. Dix good bye, expressing at the same time their deep regrets that their intercourse had been of so short duration. The General leaves for New York in a few days.

THE CONCERT AND PRESENTATION.—The concert and presentation of colors to Company A, Union Regiment, came off at the Smithsonian, last evening, according to announcement. The number in attendance was very large, including delegations of the Washington Light Infantry, National Guard, National Rifles, and other companies, in uniform. The music both vocal and instrumental, was much applauded.

After the conclusion of the first part, Major J. Grey Jewell, of the Union regiment, advanced, and, apologizing for the unavoidable absence of the Hon. Andrew Johnson, who was expected to present the colors, proceeded to address Gen. E. C. Carrington, the gallant commander of the company. He remarked, this beautiful flag was the gift of the ladies of the third ward of this city. It bore upon it the thirty-four stars. Not one of them had been blotted out. God grant that they never might be. [Great applause.]

This flag was a gift from the wives, daughters, and sweethearts, of the members of Company A, donors with eyes as bright as the stars on the flag, with cheeks almost as rosy as its red, and hearts as pure as its white. If any invasion of our fair city should take place, the ladies looked to this company for defence. From what he knew of its members, as well as of the entire battalion, he knew they would not look in vain. [Applause.]

Gen. Carrington, in reply, returned the thanks of his command, for the generous token from their lady friends. He then proceeded to give a brief history of the company, from its organization to the present time. Everything had been thrown in its way that possibly could be to arrest its onward march. It had first been said that they could not organize; next, that they could not procure their uniforms; then, that they would not receive their commissions; and afterwards, that they could not get their arms, because the organization was a dangerous one. It was a dangerous one, indeed, for all enemies of the common country, by whatever name they might be known or designated.

But they had now triumphed over all this opposition, and now numbered 131 loyal and able-bodied men. They had paraded the largest number of men one company had ever paraded in the streets of Washington. They had procured their uniforms, plain though they were, and had an overflowing treasury, containing the sum of $525 to fall back upon, which had been given to them by the loyal citizens of Washington. [Enthusiastic applause.] This flag would never be wrested from Company A, so long as a single shred of it remained, or a single man was left to tell the tale.

General C. closed amid loud and prolonged applause; after which the remainder of the programme was gone through with in good style.

LEAVE TAKING.—Before the adjournment of the Supreme Court on Wednesday, Mr. Attorney General Stanton addressed the court as follows: "May it please the court, I have the pleasure of presenting the Hon. Edward Bates, who has been commissioned and qualified as my successor in the office of Attorney General of the United States. In taking leave, sir, of my official relation to this court, I beg to return my sincere thanks for the kindness and attention that have always been exhibited towards me, and to express my profound respect for yourself, Mr. Chief Justice, and your associates, and my earnest wish for the stability of this tribunal, and for the health and happiness of the Judges whose wisdom and learning adorn it."

To which Mr. Chief Justice Taney replied: "The court thank you for the kind terms in which you have taken leave of them on your retirement from office, and, in return, tender to you personally the same kind wishes that you have been pleased to express for them."

Whereupon the court ordered the commission, appointing the Hon. Edward Bates, Attorney General of the United States and the oath of office to be read in open court, and to be entered on its minutes.

PASSING COINTEGRITY MONEY.—On Tuesday last, Samuel Brent, Richard Jones, and S. Pugh, all hailing from the State of Pennsylvania, were arrested for vagrancy, and sent to the workhouse. Subsequently, the sum of $390 was found, under such circumstances as proved conclusively that it had been in their possession. They were taken into a room to be searched, but the rogue in whose possession the bogus money was, threw the roll of notes on the floor.

The following is a list of the notes, all of which are counterfeit: nine ten-dollar bills on the Bank of Wyoming, Pa.; seventeen five-dollar bills on the Wilmington and Brandywine Bank, Del.; twelve five-dollar bills on the Western Bank of Philadelphia; three ten-dollar bills on the State Bank of Louisiana; five five-dollar bills on the Harrisburg Bank, Pa.; five twenty-dollar bills on the Merchants Bank, New Orleans; amounting in all to $390. There is no doubt but that a considerable amount of this kind of money has already been put in circulation. The notes are remarkably well counterfeited, and calculated to deceive those not fully posted up in those matters. Yesterday afternoon they were escorted, in company with some six or seven of the same, from the workhouse to the cars, and shipped off, under the charge of Detective Officer Gorman, of Baltimore.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.—The National Republican Association held a large meeting last evening, at the Wigwam, Vice President J. J. Coombs in the chair. The Secretary being absent, Mr. A. C. Richards was chosen Secretary pro tem.

The names of twelve persons were given as applicants for membership. Mr. Duvall offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this Association tender their thanks to John P. Hilton, Esq., for his manly and efficient conduct as the Marshal in charge of the car containing the young ladies representing the States of this Union, on Monday last; and also for his liberality in procuring refreshments and other comforts for the young ladies and their escort, on their arrival at the Capitol grounds.

Mr. Hilton returned his thanks for the compliment in his usual happy manner. The Association then adjourned.

SERENADES.—Last evening there were several parties out serenading. A large party, accompanied by the Marine Band under the excellent leadership of Professor Prospero, serenaded Hon. John J. Crittenden at the National Hotel; General Scott at his residence on Sixth street, and Senator Douglas, on I street. Another party visited Senator Johnson, and others. These gentlemen all made appropriate speeches, which we have not room for to-day. We will publish Mr. Crittenden's address in full to-morrow.

CRIMINAL COURT.—Yesterday morning, the case of the United States vs. W. H. Russell, indicted for being a particeps criminis in the abstraction of the Indian trust bonds, was called up, and Mr. Joseph H. Bradley, on the part of the defence, stated that they had at the last term put in a special plea of the act of Congress which provides that no man shall be tried for an offence concerning which he has been examined as a witness before a committee of Congress. The counsel were now ready with the record of the proceedings of the House committee in the case of the abstracted bonds, showing what took place before that committee in reference to the matter at issue.

Mr. Ould, the District Attorney, objected to receiving the records of the committee, as some of their proceedings may not have been entered upon their journal. Messrs. Humphrey Marshall, Rob. S. Thompson, Chilton, Davidge, and Magruder, being also retained for the defence, asked that the case be brought up.

Mr. Ould still objected, stating that some one of the committee who was present at the time Mr. Russell was sworn, should be in court. The court remarked that it might be well for them to ascertain whether the Hon. E. Joy Morris (chairman of the committee) would appear in court.

Accordingly, a new subpoena was sent by the defence, and one also on the part of the prosecution. The case of Henry Buette, indicted for an assault and battery on his wife, was then taken up. He was found guilty, and sentenced to one month's imprisonment in jail, and to pay a fine of $10.

The subpoenas had not been returned when the court adjourned.

CENTRAL GUARDHOUSE.—Before Justice Thompson.—B. Bette, drunk and disorderly; workhouse 60 days.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The Missouri Convention.

St. Louis, March 6.—In the State Convention to-day, various resolutions were referred, declaring co-operation with Georgia in the secession movement, etc. One, offered by ex-Governor Stuart, declared that no overt act by the Government, justifying secession or revolution, has been committed. One, by Judge Orr, says that we have the best Government in the world, and intend to preserve it. A resolution to refer the inaugural of President Lincoln to the committee of the whole, was defeated and withdrawn.

The Southern Confederacy.

Montgomery, March 7.—Mr. Clayton to-day reported a bill providing that in the event of a conflict, or a refusal by the United States to recognize the independence of this Confederacy, no court in the Confederate States shall have cognizance of civil cases by citizens of the United States, and that all civil cases pending shall be dismissed.

Later from Texas—The Secession Ordinance Ratified. New Orleans, March 6.—Advices from Texas show that the State has ratified the secession ordinance by from 40,000 to 45,000 majority. It is reported that Gov. Houston resigns his position.

Virginia Convention.

Richmond, March 7.—In the Convention to-day, Mr. Canfield made a speech against the pending resolution, instructing the Committee on Federal Relations to make a report, pledging the State to resist Mr. Lincoln's policy of coercion, and requesting the Legislature to make the needful preparations for that purpose. He denounced it as a treasonable measure; upheld the right of the Government to collect the revenues in the seceded States; was agreeably disappointed in the pacific tone of Mr. Lincoln's Inaugural; opposed any action on coercion by which Virginia should place herself in a hostile attitude to the General Government. He believed in the power of the people yet to restore the Union.

The Convention adjourned without any action.

The Kansas Sufferers.

Atchinson, Wednesday, March 6.—A meeting of the committee and others from the country, numbering about 250, and representing twenty-four counties, was held here last night, and a series of resolutions were adopted, expressing the utmost confidence in Gen. Pomeroy and the other members of the general committee, fully endorsing the system of distribution adopted by them, and recommending all moneys and supplies for the relief of Kansas to be sent to them. They regret that conflicting statements have been sent from Leavenworth, as they consider that it may have a tendency to stop the supplies which are yet so urgently needed, and closed with the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting, that instead of gross exaggeration being made to Messrs. Hyatt and Pomeroy, the misrepresentations are justly attributable to the authors of the recent dispatches sent from Leavenworth.

From California, per Pony Express.

Fort Kearny, March 6.—The California pony express, with advices to the 15th, has arrived here. The fort at the entrance of San Francisco harbor had been occupied for the first time by U. S. troops.

In the Supreme Court, in the case of Fremont vs. Florin, it was decided that the holder of the United States patent and lands under the Mexican grant possesses all the precious metals contained in the lands. The Governor had informed the Legislature that the number of firearms in the possession of the State was between four and five hundred muskets, &c., generally out of repair. From all parts of the State favorable accounts had been received of planting operations this season—the breadth of land sown in wheat being much greater than last year. There is nothing decisive in reference to the Senatorial contest.

Prospectus of the National Republican.

Believing that the time has arrived when the great Republican party of the United States ought to be fairly represented in the daily press of the National Metropolis, we have embarked in the enterprise of supplying the citizens of the District of Columbia with a daily publication, under the title of the "NATIONAL REPUBLICAN."

It is a political department, this journal will advocate and defend the principles of the Republican party, and endeavor to disabuse the public mind of groundless prejudices which have been engendered against it, by the false accusations of its enemies. Having the utmost confidence that the administration of Mr. Lincoln will be such as to merit our approbation, we expect to yield it a cordial, but not a servile support. In the great issue that is likely to be made with his administration, by the enemies of the Republican party, the people of Washington and the District of Columbia have more at stake than the people of any other portion of our common country. We believe that to support Mr. Lincoln's administration will be synonymous with maintaining the integrity of the Federal Union, against the machinations of those who would rend it asunder. No one can doubt upon which side of this issue the people of Washington will be found, when they come to realize that it is fairly forced upon them. We feel confident, therefore, that in yielding to the administration of Mr. Lincoln a cordial support, we shall have the sympathy of an immense majority of the people of this District and vicinity.

It is not our design, however, to make the National Republican a mere political paper. We intend, that as a medium of general and local news, it shall not be inferior to any other journal published in this city. We shall pay particular attention to questions of local policy, and advocate such reforms as we may deem essential to the prosperity of the city, and to the advancement of the moral and material welfare of its inhabitants.

We deem it unnecessary, however, to multiply promises, as the paper will immediately make its appearance, and will then speak for itself. It will be published every morning, and delivered to city subscribers at six cents per week. Mail subscribers, $3.50 a year, payable in advance.

The publication office is at the corner of Indiana avenue and Second street. LEWIS CLEPHANE & CO.
